Eclipse Architectural
hardware systems for exterior folding doors and windows
S1 Screening System

In 2001, Kristrack Manufacturing found and exciting new product that we definitely felt would enhance our existing product line. It was a new generation of hardware systems for exterior folding doors and windows from Centor Architectural out of Australia. The response to this product was so positively overwhelming that barely after the first year, a third division Eclipse Architectural, was formed to market this innovative product. This hardware has been one of the most popular to hit the wood door industry in years. The system is double weather-sealed with a water return sill system designed and manufactured by Eclipse Architectural.

We have sales offices in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Oregon, and Hawaii staffed with fulltime sales people as well as numerous sales reps throughout North America. We've grown from one employee to a company that now employs over 60 people.

HALE AINA BY THE SEA - An Archipelago Hawaii Solution

Old Kailua town was once the weekend get-away for the elite of Honolulu. The sprawling front yards and beach front lanais of these uniquely styled Hawaiian plantation beach homes have been sub-divided and developed over the years. Today a hodge-podge of homes with typical single wall 1950's era homes mix with grand mansions sporting stucco walls and tile roofs. Yet, in between this mix of housing remains some of the original beach estate homes with their architectural details, Hawaiian beach cottage simplicity and feel of old Hawaii permeating through the redwood siding.

One such home has been enjoyed by a local family for many years. A gathering place for friends and family the home seems to draw you in and welcome you to sit and relax, enjoy an afternoon or a week, letting the days slip by and the gentle breezes lull you to sleep.

The homeowner wanted to expand the size of her kitchen and incorporate a better work triangle with commercial style appliances. She also wanted to keep the plantation style of the home but with a contemporary edge. Additionally, the homeowner wanted the designers to utilize green products wherever possible. The designers were to incorporate a small office and re-define the family gathering space in the kitchen, where most of the daily activities and family gatherings take place.

The designers noted these requests and went to work by documenting existing features and obstacles of the kitchen space. Working closely with the contractor and homeowner, the designers came up with the new design and to make sure that the structural details and design style were planned out with particular attention to the details that would make the kitchen a truly unique living space.

Rich stained shaker style cherry door were utilized with complimenting off white cabinets for the island and pantry. The island and table legs were designed for a plantation/traditional look combined with playful glass backsplashes and stainless appliances for a contemporary edge. The pass through to the dining room was enlarged and flanked by mahogany columns with additional decorative display cabinets on the dining room side. The center of the kitchen combined a prep sink island and a lowered seating table for casual family gatherings. All the features truly make this kitchen one of Luxury Home Magazine's favorites. In 2007, the kitchen designers, Archipelago Hawaii earned the Building Industry Association of Hawaii (BIA) Grand Award.
